The first American Congress met in Philadelphia one hundred and twelve years ago to-day.

ODD FELLOWS' HALL—On the 22d of February, 1856, an act was passed by the Legislature of Virginia to incorporate the Odd Fellows' Hall association of the 2d of the Legislature of Virginia to incorporate the Legislature of Virginia to incorpo the ground on which the hall is built from John McLure and H. Robinson at a cost of $6,765 80, and in March of the same year the trustees adopted a plan for the building, drawn and designed by the late Harry C. Coen of this city. But the Association did not feel justified to commence their building until 1859, when the corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies on the 25th of April in that year. On the 1st of April 1860, the hall was finished and occupied for various purposes according to the original design. The total cost of the building, including the real estate, was $23,740; the capital stock paid in being$11,780. This necessarily rendered a debt of $12,960 inevitable. To carry such a heavy debt was a severe burden on the Association, the interest on the same varying from 6 to 8 per cent, and amounting annually to nearly $800. But the stockholders were resolved to extinguish that debt if it should take a lifetime. The trustees went about this work with a will, and where there is a will there is a way. The debt, by degrees, annually became smaller and beautifully ess, until the last vestige has now disap eared, and the Odd Fellows' Hall Assoon of this city owes no man anythin ciation of this city owes no man anything except good will.

Since the organization of the Association a great change has taken place in the proprietorship. At the commencement, three-fourths of the stock was owned by individual members of the Order and only one-fourth by the various lodges. Now, the Lodges own more than four-fifths of the stock and private individual less than one-fifth. The building is still one of the finest in the city, and promises to furnish a retreat for the Odd Fellows of Wheeling for many years to come. CERTIFICATES OF INCORPORATION,-The Secretary of State yesterday issued the following certificates of incorporation: Kanawha Falls Boom Company—For the purpose of constructing and maintain ing and operating one or more booms of the Great Kanawha river at some poin ing and operating one or more opens on the Great Kanawha river at some point or points between its falls and Riggs's Ferry, in Fayette county, West Virginia, and of stopping and securing logy, timber, lumber and other floatables therein, etc. The corporation will have its principal office and place of business at Kanawha Falls, Fayette county, W. Va., and is to commence on the 6th day of June, 1877, and expire on the 6th day of June, 1877, and expire on the 5th day of June, 1907. The sum of $5,000 has been subscribed to the capital stock, and $500 paid in, with the privilege of increasing the said capital to $50,000. The capital so subscribed is divided into shares of $100 each, and held as follows: H. A. Frink, of Baltimore, Md., 46 shares James A. Walkinshaw, of Milton, Cabell co., W. Va., I share; Joseph R. Henry Wallace, de-ceased, which was found since the grant-ing of administration papers on the 8th of May. The will is dated June 3, 1872, and is in the handwriting of the decensed, which was proven by S. K. Wallace and John J. Jones. The order granting administration was set aside and the will ministration was set aside and the will was ordered to be recorded. One sixth of the property is to be given to W. H. Wallace, of Steubenville; one sixth to Spaniding K. Wallace, of Wheeling; $5,-000 to Miss Clementine Bigham, and the balance goes to his wife and children to be distributed in accordance with the

made and provided for intestate CHEAPER BREAD WANTED. — When is wheat and flour suddenly advanced in price a few weeks ago under the stimulus of European war news, the bakers throughout the city, as was natural, advanced their rates for bread, in keeping with the increased cost of materials, by reducing the zize of the loaves. Under the pressure of speculation, breadstuffs were builted up beyond their nominal altitude and have since gradually receded. We are led to suspect that not all the bakers about town have remembered to shade down the price of their bread in proportion to the decline in flour. The price of bread is a vital matter to many people now-a-days. Give the public a fair deal. CHEAPER BREAD WANTED - Who SHERIFF TINGLE yesterday afternoon had an exciting race after Wm. Clator, upon whom he wished to serve a summons to appear before the grand jury today and tell what he knows about certain crooked transactions. The Sheriff met Clator on Market street, when the latter started down the street, and turned up the alley at Luke's livery stable, and thence down Chapline street. Mr. Tingle gave his man a pretty close race, but Clator had the most wind and soon distanced him. John Gilpin's ride was but a circumstance to this race.

OUGHT TO HAVE AN ELEGY.—Gray should be alive now to write an elegy upon the sewing-medine agent. Since the expiration of their patents and the adoption of a new method of business by the sewing-machine companies, the agent has gradually faded away. He still exists sporadically, it is true, but his voice has lost its old assurance and his expression its old confidence. He is passing from among us, almost unnoticed, and he ought to have an elegy. County Count.—The County Court will meet to-day, pursuant to adjournment of Monday last. The grand jury will be called at 10 A. M., and sent to their chamber to examine such business as the Prosecuting Attorney may bring before them.
